

Kevin M. Gilhool is admitted to practice law in both Florida and Michigan. He received his B.A. in Economics from the University of Notre Dame and his J.D. from the University of Detroit-Mercy School of Law. Kevin started his law career as business litigator with Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn. He later decided to focus his efforts on helping families dealing with catastrophic health care expenses, planning for sick or disabled family members and assisting families with estate planning and administration. Kevin is a member of the National Academy of Elder Law Attorneys, the Elder Law Section of the Florida Bar, the Real Property Probate and Trust Section of the Florida Bar, and the Elder Law and Disability Rights Section of the Michigan Bar and the Probate and Trust Section of Michigan Bar.
